

AngelEye Health Adds Healthcare Industry Veteran to Board of Directors

Former HealthStream CFO Gerry Hayden to Lend Financial and Business Expertise

AngelEye Health, a provider of virtual patient engagement solutions, has added healthcare industry veteran Gerry Hayden to its board of directors. Hayden joins the board after serving as the Chief Financial Officer for HealthStream, Inc., the healthcare workforce development company, for more than a decade.

“HealthStream and AngelEye Health have a similar business approach and similar business models. We are fortunate to have his insight and wise counsel,” says Christopher Rand, chief executive officer of AngelEye Health. “He understands the opportunity for AngelEye Health to help neonatal and perinatal nurses communicate more effectively with parents and families and manage care during a highly stressful time.”

The AngelEye Health Virtual Care Platform enables parents, families, and care teams to stay connected when their newborns and children in a Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) or Pediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU). AngelEye offers live-stream video, real-time family chat, and HIPAA-compliant, one-way multimedia updates between parents and the care team. The recent integration of InJoy's educational content enhances hospitals' ability to provide parents with educational material tailored for a baby's specific condition upon admission and up to 90 days post-discharge.

“AngelEye Health’s commitment to delivering compassionate, clinical care solutions and ongoing support for NICU babies and their families extends beyond the four walls of the hospital, creating a better experience and enhancing quality,” says Hayden. “I’m excited to be a part of helping AngelEye advance its mission.”

Hayden's 30-plus year career includes experience in the payer, services, and technology sectors of healthcare. The University of Notre Dame (B.A.) and Northeastern University (M.S) alumnus most recently served as CFO for Healthstream. Before Healthstream, he was with MedAvant Solutions.

About AngelEye Health

AngelEye Health is the leading virtual engagement solution that provides hospitals with robust communication and patient education solutions, removing the physical barriers separating families during their NICU or PICU stay. The advanced camera, one-way audio, and HIPAA-compliant applications enhance the patient and family experience, improve quality of care, and increase efficiencies across the care continuum. Founded in 2013, AngelEye Health partners with 70+ hospitals, 11,000 parent, and 25,000 family users annually. For more information, visit angeleye.health.
